nfacture in the United States. Very few people have a correct idea of what dynamite is, of what it is made and the uses to which it is put. To the French belongs the honor of its discovery and its practical use. Nitroglycerin is the force of all high explosives. Dynamite is the name most usually given to these explosives, though other names are sometimes used.

Dynamite is simply nitroglycerin mixed with various ingredients. Nitroglycerin is made by mixing sulphuric and nitric acid with sweet glycerin, the same that is used by the ladies to prevent chapped hands. Mixing the G. H. Adair, President. T. T. Wescott, Sec'y. Dr. J. E. Mapp, Treas. acids and glycerin is where the great danger lies in the making of nitro-glycerin. The mixing tank, or agitator, as it is called by dynamite makers, is a large steel tank, filled inside with many coils of lead pipe, through which, while the mixing is in progress, a constant flow of ice water is maintained. This flow of ice water is used to keep the temperature of the mix below degs., as above that point it would explode, and a hole in the ground would mark where the factory had been The nitroglycerin is stored in large earthenware tanks, which are usually sunk in the ground to guard against blows or severe concussion. The other ingredients for making dynamite are, nitrate of soda (which is found only in Chili), carbonate of magnecia and wood pulp.

Without its aid many railroads, espe-cially those crossing the Rocky mountains, could not have been constructed; without it Hell Gate, in New York har-bor, could not have been destroyed, and without it the miner, at prices how paid for mining ores, could not earn his

A Logician Out of Place.

A gentleman who stood a few moments at a corner where a large buildiug was in process of crection overheard some remarks made by an Irish workman who evidently fancied himself a logician of no mean order.

He was a sturdy, good natured looking man, but evidently enjoyed leaning on his hod and commenting on what passed around him much better than h did active work. The cry of "more mort" usually rang out several timbefore he heeded it.
"Pat," said the foreman severel

"Shure, now," said Pat, shifting feet and turning a broad smile upon th foreman, "if I was to kape him goin h wouldn't have sorra a thing to say a all; an if he didn't say annything, he would I know he was there? An if h wasn't there fwhat would he be want of morther, sorr?"

And Pat marched off with his hod, leaving the foreman not convinced, but certainly confused by this remarkable exhibition of the workings of a logical mind .- Youth's Companion.

for mining ores, could not earn his bread.

Dynamite will not explode from any ordinary fall or jar. It will burn without explosion and freezes at 42 degs., 10 degs. above ordinary freezing point. The bomb is made of metal or glass and filled with pure nitroglycerin arranged so as to explode by severe contact with any hard object. These bombs are of course never made by a reputable dynamite factory.

Five or six millions of dollars are invested in the manufacture of dynamite in the United States, and its use is constantly on the increase. The fumes of mitroglycerin produce intense headache, which can be cured by taking a very small dose of it internally.—Detroit Free Press.
